

Estate Planning

Clients look to us to help preserve the legacies they have worked so hard to create.

Estate planning is more than just passing on monetary wealth, it is about preserving the legacy you have worked hard to create and helping to protect what you leave to your beneficiaries. Ireland Stapleton's attorneys work with clients to tailor thoughtful and tax-sensitive estate planning solutions that are based on the client's unique and personal circumstances.

Our clients include individuals and their families; businesses of all sizes, some of which have been passed down for generations; business executives; entrepreneurs; and charitable foundations. Our attorneys work closely with our client's other professional advisors and take a multidisciplinary approach to provide integrated and sophisticated legal and tax advice and planning. We employ a range of tools, including wills, multigenerational trusts, irrevocable trusts, and family limited partnerships and limited liability companies, among other structures, as appropriate to help clients pass on their legacies.

We work closely with our clients to ensure their plans align with their goals and are flexible to adapt to unforeseen circumstances. When necessary, Ireland Stapleton has the expertise and resources to quickly handle contested matters including litigation, should they arise.

For more information on how we can help preserve and protect your life's work, contact one of our attorneys listed on this page.

Practice Leader

Thomas J. Wolf
303-628-3670
Denver, Colorado

Practice Area Attorneys

Wilton W. Cogswell, IV
Russel W. Kemp
Mark E. Lacin
Elizabeth P. Woodward
