

Rural Electrical Cooperatives

Ireland Stapleton represents rural electric cooperatives across a full spectrum of corporate, regulatory, and litigation matters. The firm serves its electric cooperative clients in both general counsel and special counsel capacities and has broad expertise in power purchase and distribution matters, corporate governance issues, employment, and compliance matters. In addition to their corporate practice, our attorneys have successfully litigated rate, easement, land use, environmental, PURPA, tort, and contractual matters on behalf of our electric cooperative clients.
